

Sarah Chase
Communications Coordinator

Sarah Chase joined Leadership Arlington in the spring of 2011. She is a graduate of Wake Forest University where she majored in Communication, and minored in Entrepreneurship and Social Enterprise. In 2008, she studied abroad at the American University of Paris, where she took global communications and architecture classes and enjoyed traveling on the weekends.

At Wake Forest, Sarah held various positions including several roles on the campus programming board, admissions tour guide, recruitment chair of her sorority, and student giving committee member.

Sarah comes to us from a political communications agency with additional experience in the media and marketing industry. She grew up in Richmond, Virginia, where she attended Collegiate School.
